

TEACHING ECONOMICS: INSTRUCTION AND CLASSROOM BASED RESEARCH
28th ANNUAL CONFERENCE
Preliminary Program

Thursday, February 23, 2017

4:00pm - 9:00pm Registration

6:00pm - 8:00pm Reception - wine, cheese, hors d'oeuvres

7:30pm Art as Commodity: Behind the Scenes

AnnMarie LeBlanc, Robert Morris University

Friday, February 24, 2017

7:30am Conference Registration

8:00am Continental Breakfast

8:45am Welcome

9:00am The Semi-Flipped Classroom: Increasing Student Engagement and Learning by Lecturing Less and Teaching More

David Switzer, St. Cloud State University

10:00am Break

10:15am Concurrent Sessions

11:00am Break

11:15 am Effective use of Classroom Games and Experiments in a large Principles Course

Robert Gazzale, University of Toronto

12:15pm Lunch

1:15pm Teaching Economics Using Peer Instruction

Todd Fitch, University of California Berkeley and Sean Flynn, Scripps College

2:15pm Break

2:30pm Concurrent Sessions

3:15pm Break

3:30pm Concurrent Sessions

4:15pm Break

4:30pm Concurrent Sessions

5:30pm Cocktail Reception

6:15pm Dinner

7:15pm Tackling Market Failures: Making the World a Better Place with Ideas from Economics 101

Dean Karlan, Yale University

Saturday, February 25, 2017

8:00am Continental Breakfast

9:00am McGraw-Hill Education: Technology for Learning

David Switzer, St. Cloud State University and Katie Hoenicke, McGraw-Hill Education

10:00am Break

10:15am Concurrent Sessions

11:00am Break

11:15am Concurrent Sessions